STORY: Responding to Homelessness
In recent years, Houston’s homeless community has been forced out of downtown to the areas around East Harris County and Baytown. The faith-based community saw the need to help the homeless but did not know how without the backing of law enforcement and local government agencies. Unbeknownst to the faith-based community, the Harris County Homeless Outreach Team (HOT) was already engaged in homeless outreach there, so they knew working together would multiply their collective impact.

Pastor Irvin Clark, the Outreach Leader with Inspire Church and the HOT Team, Marcellus-Williams Resource Center, and three Houston Responds Coalitions (East Harris, Baytown, Crosby/Huffman) formed a collaboration to help address the critical need. They began by cleaning the underpasses, providing food, clothing, ID assistance, and other social service programs to the camps where these people resided. Harris County Sheriff's Department had also begun to see a need to bring resources to the ever-growing homeless community and to focus on advocacy rather than incarceration. To show their “heart beyond the badge,” the HOT Team opened dialogue between law enforcement and the homeless community, and the partnership began to touch the lives immediately.

The collaboration began to gain attention in the faith community, and Celebration of Life Church in Baytown offered to host discussions on additional ways of working together. Representatives from Celebration Life Church, Inspire Church, Harris County HOT Team, Harris County Sheriff's Department, Houston Responds East Harris, Baytown, and Crosby/Huffman coalitions, Marcellus-Williams Resource Center, Empower Network, Love Network, and the Baytown Police Department all came together. Out of the initial meeting, the East Harris County Navigation Center (EHCNC) was born. (continued…)

Each organization had the same heart to develop a first-class Navigation and Outreach Center that would service the entire east side of Houston. In the past year, a broad-based group of community leaders, advocates, and stakeholders have been actively seeking to acquire property for the Navigation Center and a transitional housing program.

Marcellus-Williams Resource Center will play an integral part through case management to ensure that supportive services are provided, such as acquiring identification documents, referrals to medical, dental, recovery providers, mental health counseling services, life skills training, job training, educational opportunities, housing assistance, and spiritual guidance. After receiving initial services, the next step will be to enter the transitional housing program.

Since the initial meeting at Celebration of Life Church, 231 clients have been served, and more than 840 resources have been provided. Once a physical location is established for the Navigation Center, it plans to offer more than 5,000 resources per year.

Now that the match has been struck, the fire is beginning to blaze as many other agencies have chosen to support this endeavor. The East Harris County Navigation Center is a great example of what can be accomplished when multiple coalitions, congregations, and organizations collaborate to address a critical need in their community.
